JOHN A. HAMILTON.

The advertisements in the TIMES are attractive. Our paper is a favorite medium with Charleston merchants, and our own. Messrs. Menke & Muller the popular clothiers are out to day in full dress.

The man who was so seriously shot at Branchville, as stated elsewhere, was brought on the cars to this place on Monday. He was stretched upon a litter, and was suffering very much.

The thanks of the TIMES' composers are gratefully tendered Mr. John S. Cuttino, of Elliott Hook and Ladder Company, for kind remembrance on the evening of their Annual Festival.

W. M. Sain

Offers a fine plantation wagon for sale. See his advertisement.

The Cokesbury Conference School.

As announced in its card to-day, has been reopened.

Messrs Menke & Muller,

The well-known Clothing Firm in Charleston, at corner of King and Wentworth streets, are not only selling goods at PANIC PRICES, but publish the prices, thereby showing the immense reductions they have made. See their advertisement.

Burglars Around.

Mayor Mosley had an inkling for several days back, that there were two or more professional borers around, and disposed himself to entertain the distinguished visitors as they deserved. The store of Mr. W. T. Lightfoot had been threatened, and a colored man had been stopped at night on Russell St., and closely interrogated. Thursday night was dark and misty, and the Mayor put out his full force. About eight o'clock, the gentry two in number sallied out, and one of the marshals Mr. Alexander felt justified from certain suspicious circumstances in arresting them. They were brought down to where the Mayor was (he having promised to be on hand) and the marshal attempted to turn the knob of the door of the billiard saloon, one of the prisoners drew a revolver and fired three times at the marshal, the other meantime shouting "kill the——" Mr. John Richards rushed out and opened fire on the belligerent fellow, who finding the bullets too thick took to his heels, followed by his chum. A chase ensued in which a running fire was kept up. In the course of an hour one of the thieves was arrested near the railroad at the house of a colored man named Grant, by marshal Wolfe. Six men were sent out after the other, but in the darkness he escaped. A handful of metallic cartridges were found in the pocket of the captured man. His pistol he had left for repairs with Mr. Cannon the day before. Both of them are negroes, one said to be from Savannah, the other is well known here. The promptness of the marshals and their determination is worthy of great praise, and will teach such itinerant jobbers that this is not a safe place. Our worthy Mayor will pardon us for simply remarking that burglars, and rowdies very much regret his election. Mr. Alexander was so furiously assaulted by the prisoner, that his escape is a miracle. The front door of the billiard saloon is perforated with a shot. The pursuing party went as far as "sixty six" on the railroad but failed to come up with the other prowler.

The Rise in Cotton

During the past week has caused it to come forward freely, and made business men look more cheerful. The price fell off, however, during the last two days.

The Piedmont

And Arlington Life Insurance Company. The life of Dr. J. H. O' Cain was insured for $2000 in the above company, of which Mr. James H. Fowles is the Local Agent.

See Notice

Of farm in Fork of Edisto for sale. Also, wanted to Rent, a farm with about 100 acres of cleared land under fence. Apply to Real Estate Agency at the Book Store of Mr. K. Robinson.

The Police

Are out peeping around with the stars at night. On Monday night a merchant was roused up at his residence, by the police, who informed him that a light was seen in his store. A careful survey of the premises, showed that the clerk in leaving had omitted to extinguish one of the lamps, and it burned out for want of oil. Another store was found exposed to robbers, by having a side window left open. The police roused up the proper party, and this neglect was corrected. We are forced to conclude that our town is blessed with a "wide awake" police.

Our Firemen.

The Elliott Hook and Ladder Company celebrated their anniversary yesterday by a full parade, escorted by the Young Americas. The spirit of the firemen is unabating, and evinced an earnestness which should be supported by the citizens. The Elliotts were out in handsome display of truck and uniform. After the parade they partook of their annual supper, at which a large number of guests were present. The night passed by pleasantly under the inspiration of toast and convivial bowl, and all went home renewed in spirit and devotion to the machine.

Sale Day.

A larger crowd than usual were in town on Monday, and the improved prices of cotton made things generally more cheerful. The square was lively with the cry of the Auctioneers. Stock was freely sold, and a lot of shoes and boots were bought up at auction, at prices not warranting either fit or last.

AN OX

Which had an aversion to being turned into a saddle nag, made a bolt through the crowd, and after depositing his rider on the ground, indignantly trotted away. He was arrested and resaddled and brought back to his stable owner.

A RUNAWAY WIFE,

From the fork, in gay attire came to town, bought a ticket at the R. R. office, and was waiting the cars, when her "lord and master" a giant in stature have in hand stick and dog at heel. A too intimate acquaintance with the right arm which she was "boun to obey" induced her to flee the wrath of its might. He pursued and captured her, while a yell of delight was sent up by some dusky sisters who watched the chase. Seizing her wrist he led her back, poorer in spirit and pocket. Her fare ticket is redeemable only in a ride, which she will not get until she runs again.

Special Notice.

Sends your orders for Doors Sash and Blinds to the Southern House of Geo. S. Hacker of Charleston S. C. Mr L. Ransdale of our Town is the authorized agent for this House.

Santa-Claus.
